The novel opens with Aunt Polly scolding the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom runs out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects carefully on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom about his afternoon and what everyone thought of him. Tom's collar is still wet from jam, but he lies, saying he was out with his collar. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but she tells Tom that she will not let him do anything to disgrace her name.

Tom goes out of the house to play. He goes to the graveyard and finds the other boys. They go to the graveyard and find the other boys. They go to the graveyard and find the other boys. They go to the graveyard and find the other boys.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and decides to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom goes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white ally," a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.
