The novel opens with Aunt Polly scolding the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects carefully on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom about his afternoon and what everyone thought of him. Tom's collar is still smeared with jam, but he is still very proud of his mischief. Tom's half brother, Sid, tries to dissuade him from going to school the next day, but Tom insists on going.

Tom goes out of the house to play. He finds a new friend, a boy named Huckleberry Finn, who is also a mischievous and adventurous. They go to the streets of St. Petersburg and play for hours. Tom and the new friend eventually return home and are scolded by Aunt Polly.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and decides to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom goes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white ally," a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.
